

The building that is now the Stadsschouwburg (or City Theatre) dates back to 1480. Originally the reception hall of Margaret of York's palace, it was turned into a theatre at the beginning of the seventeenth century.

The well-equipped theatre has 393 seats, comfortable artists' dressing-rooms and an atmospheric foyer with wall paintings by pupils of Gustave van de Woestyne.

Meeting rooms

General information

Number of rooms: 1

Max. number of people in largest room: 250+143

No closing period.

Comfort

Details

Name of room

Stadsschouwburg 393

Contact

T +32 15 29 40 03

("tel:+32)

@ linda.verhaege@mechelen.be (mailto:linda.verhaege@mechelen.be)

W <http://www.cultuurcentrummechelen.be/cultuur/over-cultuurcentrum/zaalverhuur>

(<http://www.cultuurcentrummechelen.be/cultuur/over-cultuurcentrum/zaalverhuur>)

Location

Keizerstraat 3, 2800 Mechelen

Distance to Grote Markt: 500 m

